Note.----The Explanatory Memorandum explains the objects and reasons of the Telecommunication (Broadcasting and Cable Services) Interconnection (Digital Addressable Cable Television Systems) (First Amendment) Regulation, 2012.

Explanatory Memorandum

1. After following an extensive consultation process, the Authority had notified the Telecommunication (Broadcasting and Cable Services) Interconnection (Digital Addressable Cable Television Systems) Regulations, 2012 (9 of 2012) (hereinafter referred to as the principal Regulation) on 30th April, 2012. While the principal regulation is specifically applicable for digital addressable cable TV systems, the Telecommunication (Broadcasting and Cable Services) Interconnection Regulation 2004 (13 of 2004) is applicable for non-addressable cable TV systems and also addressable systems such as DTH, IPTV etc.
2. A question has arisen regarding charging of placement fee by the multi system operator. In the digital addressable cable TV systems, the technology provides for a Electronic Program Guide (EPG) wherein the channels being carried on an MSO's network can be arranged in a simple easy to understand manner so that the subscriber can easily go through this guide and select the channel of choice instead of flipping through all the channels. This display of channels can be genre-wise where all the channels of a particular genre can be listed under that genre in the genre-wise list of EPG. Thus, in digital addressable cable TV systems, there is hardly any justification for charging of the placement fee. In sub-regulation 11 of the regulation 3 of the principal regulation dated 30th April, 2012, it has clearly been provided that insistence by multi system operator on placement of a channel in a particular slot or bouquet amounts to imposition of unreasonable terms. The intention of making this provision was that placement fee cannot be charged. However, to clarify the position in this regard, in the amendment regulation, a specific provision has been made so that the multi system operator does not charge any placement fee from any broadcaster.
3. The matter relating to charging of carriage fee by the multi system operator has been dealt with in sub-regulation 12 of regulation 3 and in sub-regulations 7 and 8 of the regulation 4 and also in the paragraphs 15 to 17 of the principal regulation. The multi system operators are to file a copy of the Reference Interconnect Offer with the Authority including the quantum of carriage fee per channel that would be charged from the broadcasters. With digital technology, the capacity to carry the channels is no longer a constraint. Also, the Subscriber Management System (SMS) provides the full declaration of the subscribers, increasing the percentage of subscription revenue to the multi system operator. With all these, the carriage fee is expected to go down substantially. It was presumed that the Reference Interconnect Offer that would be filed with the Authority would include the detailed basis on which the carriage fee has been worked out. The same has been clarified in the sub-regulation which has been inserted in this regard.

4. In sub-regulation 15 of regulation 5 of the principal regulation dated 30th April, 2012, a provision has been made that it shall be open to a multi system operator to decide the packaging of the channels offered to the subscribers from bouquet of channels provided to it by the broadcaster. A question has arisen regarding placement of channels by the multi system operator. To avoid any eventuality of a channel being placed in a disadvantageous position as compared to another channel of the same genre, a provision has now been made whereunder a broadcaster has to indicate the genre of a channel and the multi system operator has to include that channel in the genre declared by the broadcaster. The multi system operator is required to ensure that all the channels falling in a particular genre appear in its network's Electronic Programme Guide (EPG) under the same genre. With this the subscriber would be able to see the list of channels that are available genre-wise and thus making the service more customer friendly.
