

From: Anon ymous <dewal93@gmail.com>

Date: Feb 5, 2016 11:18:09 PM

Subject: Opinion on broadband

To: kapilhanda@traigov.in im just a consumer,and all you need to define minimum speed is to try using that speed yourself.

currently im on 512 Kbps,and it was a pain even sending this email to you.

the infrastructure exists to support a minimum of 2 Mbps broadband speed,which,if i recall correctly,was to be implemented by january 2015.

honestly,i thought TRAI was going to announce the minimum 2 Mbps soon.

For the sake of a millions of consumers,i urge you to reconsider defining broadband as greater 2 Mbps.

Yours truly,

Dewal Majithia

your average indian consumer